

Short CV Prof. Dr. Andreas Maurer, LL.M.

Andreas Maurer is full Professor of Private Law and Transportation Law at the University of Mannheim, Germany.

After his studies (2005) and legal clerkship (2007), he completed a master's degree in law at Osgoode Hall Law School in Toronto, Canada. He received his doctorate from the University of Bremen, Germany, in 2011 with a thesis entitled “Lex Maritima - Grundzüge eines transnationalen Seehandelsrechts” (Lex Maritima - Principles of a transnational maritime trade law) and was appointed Assistant Professor at the University of Mannheim in 2014. He has been a full professor at the University of Mannheim since 2020.

His research focuses on private law, international and transnational trade law, and transport law.

