

Thomas Starr

Tom is a Regional Claims Director at the UK P&I Club, where he oversees and advises Claims Executives on large and complex cases. He is a solicitor and Master Mariner, and before joining the UK Club he spent eight years as a shipping lawyer at major international law firms where he handled litigation arising from all types of marine casualties and other technical shipping disputes, from initial casualty investigation through to resolution at court or in arbitration. Prior to that, Tom spent four years as a marine superintendent and ten years at sea as a Deck Officer operating worldwide. Tom represents the UK Club on the International Group committee for Salvage & Wreck Removal, is a Director of Thomas Miller, and holds masters degrees in both law and maritime operations.
